

Perfect Scores!

Atomic Aquatics dominates the ScubaLab Special Report MUSCLE REGS Nov. 2005.

ATOMIC AQUATICS T2

"THE T2 HIT THE MARKET in May, easily earned a 2005 Testers' Choice in our June review of new regulators, and has had divers talking ever since. In standard breathing simulator tests the T2 delivered a perfect score without breaking a sweat. In the muscle test the reg was able to attain a breathing rate of just under 91 RMV."*

ATOMIC AQUATICS B2

"ATOMIC'S B2 FEATURES a balanced piston first stage with a low-pressure port swivel turret to simplify hose routing. The second stage is built with titanium components and features Atomic's Comfort Swivel, which we consider the best second stage swivel around. This 2003 Testers' Choice breathed effortlessly on the simulator, delivering perfect scores on ScubaLab's standard tests."*

ATOMIC AQUATICS M1

"THE M1 IS MANUFACTURED with Monel internal parts. Monel is high-grade nickel alloy known for its strength, corrosion resistance and oxygen compatibility. Like its brethren, this reg turned in Excellent performance on the breathing simulator, earning perfect work of breathing scores when subjected to our standard reg tests."*

ATOMIC AQUATICS Z2

"THE Z2 IS DEVELOPING a reputation as a superb breather. When subjected to ScubaLab's standard simulator test protocols, the Z2 delivered perfect simulator scores. This superior performance carries into the water as well, where test divers found the reg a very easy and dry breather in all positions with an excellent purge."*
